

ZALANDO-Warehouse in German, GÜdderath

ZALANDO has equipped its warehouse in Mönchengladbach-Güdderath with the "secty lifePatron".

The knowledge that the new warehouse was built in the Lower Rhine Plain in a geologically very active earthquake zone in Germany was reason enough to install the innovative earthquake warning system.

The early earthquake warning system will immediately shut off the gas supply in the event of a strong earthquake.

The gas valve is controlled via the "Master EQ detector" in the event of a strong earthquake and closes the valve immediately!
